Error - Could not Remove TaskSchedule Object for Task

Symptom

The first time you run Task History Cleanup, it may fail with these error messages:

> Could not remove TaskSchedule object for task

and

> violation of foreign key constraint

Resolution

Workaround:
Re-run Task History Cleanup after the first failed attempt in order to remove the remaining tasks that were not deleted on the first attempt.

Related Articles

Page: Accessing Task History (CDP) Labels: standard_edition, enterprise_edition, access, task_history

Page: Customizing the Task History List (CDP) Labels: standard_edition, enterprise_edition, advanced_edition, customize, task_history

Page: Downloading Task Details (CDP) Labels: enterprise_edition, advanced_edition, standard_edition, task_history

Page: Viewing Task Summary (CDP) Labels: standard_edition, enterprise_edition, advanced_edition, task_history

Page: Viewing Alerts (CDP) Labels: standard_edition, enterprise_edition, task_history

Page: Viewing Log Messages (CDP) Labels: standard_edition, advanced_edition, enterprise_edition, task_history, logs

Page: Solved Issue with Task History (CDP) Labels: task_history

Page: Solved Issue with Web Interface Becoming Unresponsive (CDP) Labels: task_history

Page: Error - Could not Remove TaskSchedule Object for Task (CDP) Labels: task_history